Fuel oil coupons for those who have registered from the Antioch area will be mailed to them, either direct from Libertyville, or from Antioch, local chairman George B. Bartlett states.

Ravenglen Holsteins Continue to Capture Cattle Show Honors

E. H. Ravenscroft's farm, Ravens Glen, at Antioch, is attracting increasing attention for its fine Holstein cattle. A recent news item calls attention to the fact that Ravens Glen captured both grand championships at the Wisconsin and Minnesota state fairs and the Waterloo Dairy congress. This was the first time that any exhibitor has ever won all the grand championships for the Holstein breed at all of these shows.

Ravenglen Farms have frontages on Highways 45 and 173, near the intersection of these highways.

Famous Holsteins at the farm include: King Hattie Senator, senior herd sire. In six years of showing he has never been defeated and every year since a calf he has won the all-American honors for that year. This fall he was again grand champion bull at the three shows and will be likely to be again named all-American for the sixth straight time.

His first daughters to finish their records have made sensational records which add to this sire's popularity.

Monty Bonheur Hartog, holds the world's record for butter fat made in a four-year-old. Her record is 1153 pounds of butter fat and 24,248 pounds of milk made in 365 days on three times a day milking.

Rocky Hill Dew Drop Burke, all-American the last three years, one of the finest cows the breed has ever had.

Frank B. Huber Struck by Hit- and-Run Driver

Antioch Man Is Recovering from Injuries Received December 10

Frank B. Huber, Antioch painter and decorator, was severely shaken up and received cuts about the face when he was struck by a hit-and-run driver at Loon Lake last Thursday evening at 8:30.

Due to the icy condition of the roads Huber had slipped into a ditch with his car and it was while he was walking towards Antioch for help that the accident occurred. He was hurled aside by the impact of the car and lay on the roadside for about 45 minutes it is estimated, before he was discovered.

An examination by members of the Antioch Rescue Squad, who rushed to the scene, disclosed that injuries sustained by Mr. Huber were of a minor nature and he was brought home. He has recovered almost completely and is up and about.

Gallup Poll Reveals 78% Bought Bonds

Illinois Is Listed in Highest Sectional Group of Purchasers

Washington, D. C.—A recent survey by the Gallup poll revealed that 78% of Americans have bought War Bonds or stamps.

Reporters for the poll asked a representative cross-section of the voting population this question: "Do you happen to have bought any war bonds or stamps?"

The result was:

- Yes—78 percent
No—22 percent

Dr. George H. Gallup, head of the Institute of Public Opinion, said the findings were splendid testimony to the effectiveness of the Treasury Department's War Savings Campaign.

Seeking the answer to the failure of one out of every five adult Americans to buy War Bonds or Stamps, Dr. Gallup made a further study and found that two large segments of the population—the lower income group and farmers—are responsible for this situation.

A break-down of the bond and stamp purchases by occupations reveals that the professional man, the business man, and the white collar workers are well ahead of other occupational groups in their bond and stamp buying.

Here is the comparison by occupation: Professional, 92 percent; businessmen, 88 percent; white collar workers, 88 percent; skilled and semi-skilled, 78 percent; unskilled and service workers, 65 percent.

Furthermore, some sections of the country are far better bond and stamp buyers than others. The East Central section, comprising Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan, is highest on the list, in the relative proportion who have bought bonds or stamps, 81 percent of the voting adults having purchased bonds or stamps in this area.

The New England, Middle Atlantic and West Central areas are next, with 79 per cent holding bonds or stamps. Next comes the mountain area and the far west, with 78 per cent. The south stands lowest in the sectional groupings, with 66 per cent of the voting population having bought bonds and stamps.

Rudolph Meyers, Former Antioch Resident, Dies

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock for Rudolph Meyers, who died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. George Misicka, 2323 South Holm avenue, Berwyn, Ill., Tuesday evening.

Meyers had been ill for about a week.

He and his wife, who preceded him in death two years ago, lived in Antioch for several years.

Doris Klass, a sophomore at Illinois College at Jacksonville, Ill., is expected home Friday to spend the holiday vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otto S. Klass.

CUT THAT ROPE!

Well, we been looking out of the window trying to see something up the street or down the street that would fit into this week's Obs. col., but so far, no luck.

However, the thought occurs to us, that that handy man in the composing room, Leonard Roblin, has had an idea that might have possibilities—all Robbin plans to do is to strike off a few proofs from the service men's mailing list and pass on copies of same to any interested young ladies—at 2 bits a throw. And, says he, "Sure, they'll come across with the 2 bits. It's worth it to get a list of good addresses like that." You shouldn't mentioned that Roblin, just before Xmas. We are thinking of chiseling in on your proposed racket ourselves. If we could get enough 2 bits, maybe we could keep the wolf from the door.

On 2nd thought, if this fuel oil sit, keeps on, maybe, we'll go out after the wolf and acquire ourselves a fur rug. 'Twould help.

We quote you—

Ontario, Cal (AP)—As Santa Claus' assistant in charge of his local correspondence, Miss Bertha Schwartzwelder gets some tough assignments. But this one has her stopped completely.

Signed, "Helen," the letter read: "Dear Santa: I am a little girl 18 years old. I want 20 gallons of gasoline, four new tires and a second lieutenant."

—Is that all?

Add to shortages—

Chicago (AP)—After a year of war, there's not much surprise evinced by most customers when they get a sideways shake of the head from store clerks—indicating that the article being sought is unavailable.

The grocery clerks began their negative head shaking prior to sugar rationing, became experts, before the country went on a coffee budget.

Then the butchers started shaking their heads the same way, and so did the attendants in gasoline stations.

"None," and "all out!" became the outstanding comebacks of 1942.

Added to the lists of "all outs," it was disclosed today, were babies for adoption at many of the orphanages in the Chicago metropolitan area.

Some of the institutions reported that all requests for adoption could not be granted for a year or 18 months.

—Whodathunkit?

From the Wkn. News-Sun—

Twenty Years Ago, Dec. 12, 1922—Washington—The efforts of the Middle West to save Great Lakes Naval Training station have met with success, for the appropriation bill to be reported to the house tomorrow will carry $225,000 for the operation of the recruit training center. This is $25,000 more than was allowed last year.

It was an awful come-down when Mrs. L. R. Van Patten got back from her visit to California, to this—this—"White Christmas!" She had been picking roses out in the garden the day before she left sunny California.

And winter won't be formally ushered in until next Monday. Tsk!

Nineteen Summer Roundup Health certificates were presented to parents of pre-school age children at a Grade School P. T. A. meeting held last Monday evening. The children were examined at the Annual Roundup last March and have since had treatment to correct any defects and are now in perfect health.

As a feature of the entertainment program for the evening, W. C. Petty, Ralph Clabaugh, A. G. Simon and Mrs. Elmer Hunter were interviewed on the subject, "Recreation in the Home" by Mrs. W. C. Petty. Christmas carols and other entertainment was also furnished by pupils of the school.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Drinks and Smokes Are Burglarized from Barney Koolman Garage

A .38 revolver, four one-fifth gallon bottles of imported rum, eight small bottles of whiskey, two and one-half cartons of cigarettes and four boxes of another brand of cigarettes were the loot taken from Barney Koolman's garage office, 853 Main street, Sunday evening. Three Antioch region youths were charged with the burglary. Most of the loot was recovered by Deputy Sheriff's Geo Palmieri and Robert Jenkins, with the exception of the liquor.

Speaking of warmer climes—this will be the third Xmas Kenneth Hills, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hills, has spent in the tropics. Hills, who has been in the Navy since 1936, has been stationed, among other ports, in San Diego, Canal Zone, Cuba, Porto Rico, and Trinidad.

Sorry we can't write any more to-night, folks, but we lost our scissors. —He seen' yal.

Yule Party for Children to be Held at Schools

Change Plans for Annual Antioch Christmas Fete for Kiddies

The annual Christmas party for the children will be held at the schools of the village and surrounding communities, instead of in the Antioch park, Village President George B. Bartlett announces.

As in former years, candy and fruit for each child will be distributed, and the parties will be for pre-school as well as school age children.

Lights Are Up
Antioch's decorative Christmas lights are now up, giving a festive air to the business section of the village evenings.

Stores and other business establishments arranged attractive show window displays.

Lions Discuss Winter Sports, Transportation

There is hope that transportation facilities for the lakes region may be bettered within the near future; Dan Boyer, chairman of the transportation committee, reported at a meeting of the Antioch Lions club Monday evening in Soper's Spa.

The skating rink project at Antioch Lake was discussed, and it was decided to repair the shelter house and put up the lights which were used for night skating last year. The shelter house will be repaired Sunday morning, and Irving Carey will install the lights within the next few days.

This is the third year that the Lions club has given its support to the winter sports program.

A dinner was enjoyed previous to the business meeting.

ANTIOCH FIRE DEPT. ANSWERS TWO CALLS

Members of the Antioch Fire Department were called last Thursday evening to extinguish an automobile fire on Main street. No considerable damage was caused by the fire, which was thought to have been caused by faulty wiring on an electric cigar lighter. The car belonged to Arthur Trieger, rural mail carrier, of Antioch.

The department responded to a call Wednesday noon to put out a small fire at the home of Paul Volbrecht on Main street. The fire was quickly brought under control by the fire department and most of the slight damage was caused by smoke. The fire was thought to have been caused by defective electric equipment.

Holiday Fire Hazards Should Be Avoided

Methods of guarding against holiday season fires in Illinois homes are outlined by State Fire Marshal John H. Craig.

Christmas trees dry quickly indoors. If kept in for several days, trees should be cut off at the base at an angle and kept standing in water. The use of electrical sets is advised for tree illumination, together with non-combustible ornaments and trimmings. Candles and open flame lighting should be avoided. The use of lighted candles at public gatherings has been banned by an order of the Fire Marshal's office.

Illinois Dairy Products Rank High in Quality

"The Illinois dairy industry is playing a major part in the fighting of this war through its quantity and quality production of nutritious foods," said Governor Dwight H. Green, addressing an Illinois Dairy Products association meeting in Chicago, recently. "When the war is ended, Illinois will be glad to sell its milk and dairy products to all the nations on earth. If they'll furnish the markets, we'll furnish the milk."

The governor pointed out that during the last five years Illinois has risen from seventh to second place among the states in volume of cheese production, and within ten months has advanced from the bottom of the ranks to the top as a producer of highest quality cheese.

What Price Secret Weapon?

War has changed the eternal American question from "How's business?" to "Where and what is the American secret weapon?"

J. Howard Pew, president of the Sun Oil Co. and national vice president of the National Association of Manufacturers, supplies the answer. Our secret weapon is our initiative. Our workers for the past twenty years, have produced three times as much as Europeans, not because they are a superior race, but because they are infused with the initiative generated by a keen competitive system in which anyone with talent can rise to the top.

Initiative is intangible; but we can tell by our war production record thus far that it is still present. The question is how long will the genius that is American industry continue to possess the initiative necessary to build better weapons of war. How long will it be before unnecessary restrictions and regimentation from the government stifle it completely?

You Can't Have Both

Compulsory government economic planning, whether it be forced on the people or engulf them gradually under the guise of reform, is equally destructive of freedom.

As W. H. Prentiss, Jr., chairman of the Executive Committee of the National Association of Manufacturers, points out, none of the "middle-of-the-roads" in economics, government, and the church who approve limited planning for basic industries, "would feel very comfortable with a little cancer in any portion of their honorable bodies. They seem perfectly serene, however, about implanting the carcinoma of state socialism in the national body politic."

Both the Communists and Nazis recognize the fact that it is the whole hog or none at all. Stalin himself has said that "without getting rid of capitalism and abandoning the system of private ownership in the means of production, you cannot create planned economy." And a keen analyst of the German scene has written:

"The experience of the last few years shows that economic planning and a system of free enterprise cannot permanently endure side by side in the same nation. For example, the Nazi system of wage and price control must be extended to every area which they dominate, otherwise the control of prices would soon get out of line. If labor is compulsory in some areas, it must be made so everywhere or else laborers will migrate to freer regions."

"Day-to-Day Labor Policy"

One of the best-considered analyses of this country's labor policy comes to us in an address made last week before the War Congress of American Industry by Raymond S. Smethurst, counsel to the National Association of Manufacturers.

This war has not, as most of us hoped, made our serious domestic problems vanish. Not only do the old problems remain, Mr. Smethurst declares, but new ones have been created.

In labor relations, war brought forth the promise from union leaders for the cessation of strikes. Yet strikes, slowdowns, boycotts, and racketeering still occur. "Last year two union groups were competing with each other we now have three." These, succinctly put, are signs of the times.

Not only is there disorder in performance, but the very basic policies of our labor relations policies are changing so constantly as to become obscure to the nation at large.

There is a great deal of government intervention, yet it comes not from the legislative branch but from the administrative—a branch supposedly judicial and impartial.

The War Labor Board, for example—created to settle labor disputes and not to make national labor policy—in awarding maintenance of membership clauses consistently has, in effect, established a policy which it proceeds to follow in every case regardless of individual merits.

Policies of this sort, determined by the facts in a single case and applied to many, do nothing to help the cause of industry-labor co-operation, and go a long way in spreading antagonism and confusion.

Regulation—How Far?

The United States Supreme Court has rendered a unanimous decision upholding the government's power to regulate wheat production, even when the crop is to be consumed on the farm. An Ohio farmer who planted 23 acres of wheat was fined $117.11 for raising 12 more acres than his allotment of 11 acres under the Agricultural Adjustment Act.

Granting that the decision is in accordance with the letter of the law, the reasoning of Justice Jackson, who wrote the decision, has far-reaching effect on every American citizen. He said that wheat, even if grown for home consumption, could be considered within the scope of Congressional regulation if it "exerts a substantial economic effect on interstate commerce." To emphasize this point, he went further and said that even if such wheat was never marketed, it was subject to regulation because "it supplies a need of the man who grew it which would otherwise be reflected by purchases in the open market," and, therefore, it "competes with wheat in commerce."

This is worth thinking over. Under similar legislation and court rulings, almost every productive act of American citizens could be construed to "exert a substantial economic effect on interstate commerce," and therefore be subject to Federal jurisdiction.

If a farmer cannot feed his surplus grain to his own cattle because this affects interstate commerce, how long will it be before he is told he cannot kill a hog or a beef for his own consumption because "it supplies a need of the man who grew it which would otherwise be reflected by purchases in the open market."

Almost any human activity of free and independent men and women could be brought under the dragnet classification of "exerting a substantial economic effect on interstate commerce." The housewife who makes a dress for herself interferes with such commerce.

And this is happening in the United States where the independence of the American farmer is one of the most sacred traditions of our nation.

The Bitter Truth

Citizens have yet to realize that inflation is not an easy way to escape financial difficulties. They have yet to realize that it is a costly luxury; that it can permanently destroy basic liberties.

According to figures released by the Office of Emergency Management, the inflationary rise in prices during the period between September, 1939, and May, 1942, surpassed the total cost of World War I. In other words, Americans have in effect squandered over $30,000,000,000 in a fool's paradise of war prosperity because they will not abandon the fallacious notion that the other fellow—presumably the rich fellow—should pay all the taxes. Taxation is still being used as a political instrument of social change.

National income is soaring, consumer supplies are dwindling, tax revenue is far short of war requirements, "painless" government borrowing from the banks continues at a staggering pace, and still politicians and public alike avoid an honest hard-boiled reckoning.

They avoid the fact that high war wages are little more than an illusion. Inflation will reduce them if taxes don't. And every billion that we spend on inflation lessens the chances for survival of individual freedom after the war. Every billion so spent lessens the chances for survival of individual freedom after the war. Every billion so spent lessens the confidence of all peoples in future financial stability.

THE BIRTH OF JESUS

LESSON TEXT—Luke 2:8-20.
GOLDEN TEXT—Thou shalt call his name Jesus; for he shall save his people from their sins.—Matthew 1:21.

How shall we keep Christmas this year of our Lord 1942? That is a question which is pressed home to all of us by trying circumstances, growing wickedness—yes, by countless things which try to tell us that there just is not any use to try to keep Christmas as usual this year. Well, then let's make it unusual! Let's have it more genuinely Christmas-like than ever. That's what we need this weary world needs. The way to do it is to make this more than ever a Christmas centering in Christ. Doing that will mean that this year we will

I. Keep Christmas With Joy (vv. 8-10).
"Merry Christmas" may sound a little flat and empty this year, for there may be little to create merriment. "We wish you happiness at Christmas!" will probably not fit very well, because happiness depends on what happens—and a good many of the wrong kind of things have happened to most (perhaps all) of us.

But joy—that is quite another matter. We do not tire of the reminder that joy is something which God gives in the heart and which goes so far down into the depths of man's soul that the surface tempests of life cannot disturb it. Remember Paul who was "sorrowful" on the surface "yet ever rejoicing" in heart (II Cor. 6:10).

The ground of our Christmas joy is the good tidings of Christ's coming. That has always been the real heart of Christmas joy, but often it has been obscured by tinsel and trimmings. This year let's get back to essentials.

And let it be said that this does not mean that we are going to omit all the precious little customs and pleasures which have had their innocent part in making this a holiday season. No indeed; let us have them all, or as many as we can, but make the heart of it all Christmas joy.

II. Keep Christmas With Assurance (vv. 11-14).

With so many other things (many of which we had foolishly regarded as permanent and sure) failing us, it is a delight to have something sure to tie to, and we have it this Christmas. Christ the Saviour has come!

Not only do we know that He was born, to these many years ago, as the Babe in the manger in Bethlehem town, but we know that He still lives! He was born, died for our sins, was raised for our justification, ever lives to intercede for us, and He is one day to come again. The evidence for all this is plentiful and satisfying, and gives us abundant ground for the keeping of Christmas even this year in assurance.

This thought leads us to our third point. We have joy and assurance in order that we may

III. Keep Christmas As a Testimony (vv. 15-20).

Having found the Christ, the shepherds "made known abroad" (v. 17) the good news. They returned "glorifying and praising God" (v. 20).

They, too, lived in a time of great darkness. They were part of the people of whom the prophet said: "The people that walked in darkness have seen a great light; they that dwell in the land of the shadow of death, upon them hath the light shined" (Isa. 9:2). That light was Christ, the "light of the world."

There could be no more appropriate time to testify to the world, whose lights have failed, that we keep Christmas because it tells of the coming into this world of the everlasting Light, the One who said of Himself: "I am the light of the world!" (John 9:5).

Some day, if Christ should tarry, the world will return to a measure of reality. One of the realities it will face is that the temporal and material is transitory, that a dependence on them is certain to disappoint. The spiritual and the eternal will then have new opportunity to commend itself to the hearts of men. That is why we want to keep Christmas this year as a ringing, powerful testimony to our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.

The writer of these notes does not hear from his readers, scattered all over the continent (yes, even in foreign lands), but he counts on his friends. He prays for them and counts it a joy to hear from them through these lessons. They are his friends, he knows, for one of them who sees "May God make this Christmas. Through the circumstances may be above the noisy world may you hear the joy of your soul this Christ-

HERE'S HOW YOU CAN HELP

Particularly During Cold Spells

IF YOU HEAT WITH GAS

Set your thermostat at 65° in the daytime, and lower at night. Young children, and sick or elderly people may require a higher temperature for the rooms they occupy, but for most of us 65° is considered adequate.

Stop much loss of heat by use of storm windows, insulation, weather stripping, and careful adjustment of fireplace drafts. Heat no more rooms than necessary. Use your fireplace for supplementary heat.

YOUR GAS RANGE

Don't use your oven for room heating. Cook with a low blue flame, using as little water as possible. Prepare more "one dish meals", cooking more than one kind of food at the same time on the same burner and in the same vessel.

YOUR WATER HEATER

Don't use more hot water than you actually need. Close faucets tightly; repair leaks. Postpone or reduce heavy laundry work on extremely cold days.

YOUR GAS REFRIGERATOR

Allow ample time for cooked foods to cool before putting in refrigerator. Don't waste space in the refrigerator for foods that need not be kept cool, such as jelly, pickles or vegetable shortening. Overcrowding prevents free circulation of cool air.

Gas, too, has gone to war—don't waste it

Must Have License
The Office of Indian Affairs says that the Indians have no right to hunt outside their own reservation without complying with the game laws. Indians may hunt within their reservation without complying with the state game laws, but the Indian office endeavors to have them observe the same rules so far as may be practicable. However, as Indians are more largely dependent upon game for their living, it is not practicable to limit them absolutely to the state game laws, so long as they stay within their own reservation. This applies to fishing also.

THE GOAL OF A NEW WORLD ORDER

The acknowledged impotence of the League of Nations to maintain world peace should draw the vital interest and concern for every person seeking light and guidance, to the following series of articles entitled "The Goal of a New World Order." It is an analysis of the causes of present world conditions and the forces released in this age to correct them. This analysis is from a publication of Shoghi Effendi, the present head of the Baha' Faith.

"Soon will the present-day order be rolled up, and a new one spread out in its stead," said Bahá'u'lláh, Founder of the Baha' Faith. As early as 1912 between the manifestations of confident enthusiasm in which the Bahá'is at Versailles so freely indulged and the cry of unquenched distress which the victors and vanquished alike are now raising in the hour of bitter delusion."

During his visit to America in 1912, Bahá'u'lláh pleaded with his listeners to abandon hatred and prejudice, superstition and religious dogma, and to join in a world-wide fellowship under the banner of a common faith. "The body of the human world is sick," he said. "Its remedy and healing will be the oneness of the kingdom of humanity. Its life is the Most Great Peace. Its illumination and quickening is love. Its happiness is the attainment of spiritual perfection."

"The Goal of a New World Order" was published November 28, 1931, from Haifa, Palestine.

The next article will be entitled "A War-Wearied World."

From Pvt. LeRoy Maleck—
Hi, Folks!

I am writing to let you know that I appreciate the Antioch News. We can buy daily newspapers here, but one Antioch News holds more interest for me than a hundred of these local papers. I know that there must be others who feel exactly as I do.

My address has been changed, as I have attended Officers' Candidate Preparatory school. However, I am not eligible to attend the actual Officers' Candidate school at the present time, but I shall try again soon. My new address is:

U. S. Army
O. C. P. S. Detach., M. R. T. C.
Camp Berkeley, Texas.

Geel! It sure was a surprise to open the air mail letter from the American Legion and find the money order, along with a swell letter that said, "Have a good time." Believe me, I shall!

The weather has been wonderful and when I read the Antioch weather reports, I like Texas all the more.

I am really going to miss the winter sports, though. However, I do expect a furlough sometime in January.

Antioch Scores 44-21 Victory Over Grant H. S.

The Antioch Sequoias scalped their traditional rivals, the Grant Bulldogs, last Friday by a score of 44-21. Dale Barnstable, star forward, again led the field in points made with 9 field goals and two free throws. The game, played at Antioch, was a rough one, but Antioch managed to maintain a comfortable lead throughout.

In the first quarter Antioch made 5 field goals and 4 free throws against Grant's 5 field goals. In the second quarter the Sequoias made 8 more points to Grant's 7. At the half Antioch led, 22-17.

In the third quarter Barnstable made 4 field goals and Fields made 1 field goal and two free throws. Antioch's defense in this quarter prevented Grant from scoring. The Sequoias brought their score up to 44 points in the last quarter. Grant made two field goals for the final score of 21.

This was a great victory for the Sequoias, who have been rivals of the Bulldogs in every sport.

The Antioch Sequoias captured their fifth win of the season last Tuesday when they defeated the Wauconda quintet at Wauconda, by the score of 42-17. Antioch's ball handling was so superior to Wauconda's that it was an easy victory.

Antioch started by making 7 points in the first quarter while Wauconda made four. In the second quarter Antioch displayed such a defense that Wauconda was able to make only one field goal. Dale Barnstable made eight of his 28 points of the game. At the half, Antioch led, 17-8.

The last half of the game was dominated by Antioch. All of the boys showed good offensive and defensive play. The final score was Antioch 42, Wauconda 17.

Bethlehem Town

There are many little places
That are worthy of renown.
But none are quite so dear to us
As little Bethlehem Town.

For Bethlehem's Star on that radiant night
Led from far the Wise Men of old,
While to lowly shepherds the Angel Choir
Their wondrous story told.

The light above that manger bed
Shines o'er all the earth today,
And loyal hearts in every land
Their loving homage pay.

They find heaven's gate is open still
In the midst of this toil and strife,
And that Faith's unfaltering venture
Leads at last to a boundless life.

So we learn as we follow from Bethlehem Town
In the way that the Master trod,
That he best may serve his fellowmen
Who first walks alone with God.

Feeding Calves Without Milk

A calf meal that may be used as a substitute for milk is made up of four feeds mixed in the proportion of 1 part of each by weight. The feeds used in the mixture are old process linseed meal, hominy feed, red-dog flour and dried blood. When used in the place of milk, this meal should be mixed with warm water, about 100 degrees F. in the proportion of 1 pound of meal to 1 gallon of water. Be careful not to over-feed.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Allied Victories in New Guinea Mean Weakening of Japs' Power in Pacific; Rail Unions Demand 30% Pay Raise; McNutt Outlines New Manpower Rules

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Former Governor Herbert H. Lehmann of New York (left) gets advice from former President Herbert Hoover, about how to solve problems of feeding war-torn countries overseas. Mr. Lehmann is the newly appointed director of foreign relief and rehabilitation. Mr. Hoover was foreign food administrator after the First World War.

NEW GUINEA:

Allies Take Gona

The Japs' narrow beachhead in New Guinea became narrower when Allied forces directed in the field by General MacArthur occupied the entire Gona area. In the culmination of a campaign begun several months before, the Allied armies thus reduced Japan's hold in New Guinea to a tenuous segment.

The loss of Gona left the Japs confined to a narrow strip of coast centering on the Buna area, 12 miles to the south. The Japanese made their first landing at Gona last July and from this beachhead started an invasion drive that carried them across the Owen Stanley mountains nearly to the Allied base at Port Moresby.

The enemy's continued disregard for even the most elementary conventions of warfare was further emphasized by communications from General MacArthur's headquarters declaring that Jap planes have "violated the laws of war by repeated attacks upon Allied hospital installations, killing doctors, medical personnel and patients."

The rising effectiveness of American and Australian air power in the Southwest Pacific was indicated by figures which showed that General MacArthur's airmen had destroyed nearly 300 Jap planes in the space of one month.

DRAFTEES:

May Choose Service

Paul V. McNutt, chairman of the War Manpower commission, announced in Washington that draftees would be given a chance to express a choice concerning which branch of the armed services they wanted to join under the new combined selective service program.

The manpower czar cautioned, however, that preferences granted would necessarily depend on how nearly they fitted in with the requirements of each branch of the service, following President Roosevelt's recent order halting voluntary enlistments in the army and navy and transferring the selective service to the War Manpower commission.

How the government will extend its wartime control over the nation's workers was likewise outlined by Mr. McNutt. Among steps in the new program are rationing of labor in scarce lines, the transferring of workers from nonessential to essential industries, adjusting working hours to help boost production and requiring employers in some areas to hire their help through government employment agencies.

Mr. McNutt forecast that women would fill 30 per cent of all war industry jobs by the end of 1943.

SPAIN:

Axis Gateway?

The disquieting possibility of a German move through Spain to relieve the Allied siege of the Axis in Africa remained in the foreground, as Generalissimo Francisco Franco praised the "New Order" of Hitler and Mussolini and reaffirmed his own regime's spiritual kinship with the Axis.

Addressing the new National Council of the Falange, Franco said that the German and Italian dictatorships "represent a new faith," a revolt against the hypocrisy of the liberal world we knew in our youth.

TUNISIA:

Air Tempo Boosted

Although shorter Axis supply lines had given them the edge in the early stages of the battle for Tunis and Bizerte, the long-range advantages clearly lay with the Allies, even considering their overland haul to bring up men and materials from ports in Algeria.

That the preponderance of Allied strength was being brought to bear was indicated by ever-increasing air activity, with swarms of American and British planes providing cover for land operations. This fact suggested that Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower had found a partial solution at least to the problem of providing forward airfields in the rugged terrain of coastal Tunisia.

Chief point of contention between the opposing armies had been Tebourba, strategic junction 20 miles west of Tunisia and 35 miles south of Bizerte. Here a series of kaleidoscopic tank actions had taken place, with the key town changing hands as the battle tide ebbed and flowed.

Rising success of the Allies in activity, according to military observers, heralded the mobilization of sufficient strength to launch the supreme drive to dislodge the Axis from their Tunisian strongholds.

Across Tripolitania, the British Eighth army was reported increasing its air blows against the El Agheila defense positions held by an estimated 50,000 survivors of Marshal Rommel's 100 mile retreat.

BLOCK BUSTERS:

Devastate Turin

"Triple block buster" bombs weighing 8,000 pounds were believed to have delivered the knockout blow to essential airplane and motor manufacturing plants in Turin, huge north Italy industrial center, as the R.A.F. waged merciless warfare.

Turin was the target of repeated attacks which, according to British air authorities damaged it to the same extent that Genoa, Luckeck, Cologne, Rostock, Hamburg, Bremen and other Axis cities devastated by the R.A.F.

RAIL UNIONS:

Demand Pay Raise

The specter of a nation-wide transportation crisis was raised when 350,000 union labor operating employees announced they would ask for a 30 per cent wage increase, or a minimum of $3 per day.

Whether this specter would haunt the nation's war program or return to the shadows from whence it came, depended on what kind of a settlement management and labor would be able to make.

The decision of the five railroad operating unions to ask for an increase followed a three-day meeting of 750 union chairmen in Chicago. Alvaney Johnston, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers who served as spokesman for the unions, said the raise was necessitated by added responsibilities and hazards placed on rail employees, the manpower shortage, higher living costs and the inequality of rail pay compared with that of other industries.

The "big five's" action followed wage adjustment demands by the 15 non-operating unions with a membership of 900,000, asking a 20-cent per hour increase.

WAR COSTS:

78 Billion in '43

With budget experts estimating war expenditures at 78 billion dollars for the 1943 fiscal year, Americans learned that the cost of the first year of the war against the Axis was over 46 billions—or more than the entire cost of participating in the First World war 25 years ago.

Treasury department statements disclosed that current war expenditures were running at the rate of six billion dollars a month, which was about four times what they were under the national defense program before Pearl Harbor.

Fiscal authorities pointed out that when the United States entered the First World war it had a gross public debt of about 1½ billion dollars. By November 30, 1918, that debt had risen to 19 billion 438 million dollars. Gross public debt had risen from 55 billion, 201 million in December, 1941, to 103 billion, 577 million dollars at the end of December, 1942.

FRENCH FLEET:

Tit for Tat

When Vichy-inspired news sources first made public reports indicating that the entire French fleet had been scuttled at Toulon after the Nazis entered the naval base, Washington officials were publicly skeptical.

That this skepticism was justified was indicated by a navy department announcement that 20 French ships had apparently been left intact and were now in the Nazis' possession. These included 15 warships and five tankers. The announcement added that an unspecified number of vessels, including three battle-ships were damaged and might be reclaimed.

In issuing the memorandum, Secretary of Navy Frank Knox said it was prepared on the findings of reconnaissance flights over Toulon. It showed that of 75 ships in the harbor, 51 were sunk, damaged or missing, four escaped and 20 went unharmed.

The unfavorable news concerning the Toulon warships was largely balanced by the announcement by Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower from his African headquarters that French fleet units at Dakar, plus port facilities and airports were being made immediately available to the United Nations.

GOP COMPROMISE:

On National Chairman

Wendell L. Willkie was pleased So were former President Herbert Hoover and Senator Robert Taft of Ohio. The reason for their satisfaction was the election of Harrison E. Spangler, 63, of Cedar Rapids,

HARRISON E. SPANGLER
Middle-of-the-road traveler.

Iowa, as national chairman of the Republican party to succeed retiring Joseph W. Martin.

Back of the election of lawyer and dirt farmer Spangler to the national chairmanship was an inter-party conflict that had threatened to burst into flames. Fortunately this argument, which had centered around the candidacy of former isolationist Werner Shreeder of Chicago was happily composed with the nomination of Spangler, a compromise candidate upon whom all factions could agree.

Heartened by successes in the November elections and cocking an eye on the 1944 presidential prospects, the Republicans were ready to make vigorous plans.

In Chairman Spangler, the party had a shrewd and seasoned wheel-horse. Spangler was considered ideal by political wisemen because of his middle-of-the-road record.

RUSS OFFENSIVE:

Keeps Up Steam

Although their progress had been slowed by stiffening German resistance, Russian armies in the blizzard-swept corridor between the Volga and Don rivers had continued on the offensive. They had effectively stalled the Nazi siege armies before Stalingrad by seizing both banks of the Don in the great bend of the river.

The desperation of the German attempt to hold the siege of Stalingrad was underscored by the use of mail planes and training ships to carry reinforcements.

On the central front near Voronezh, where the Russians had successfully blocked all German attempts to break through, a Nazi flank lay exposed to the south.

Evidence from all points along the line from Leningrad to Stalingrad indicated that Hitler was making every effort to slow down the Russ advances and dig in for the winter.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

PORTLAND, ORE.: Covered with rust and long used as a museum, the famous battleship Oregon, of Spanish-American war days, has been consigned to the scrapheap. The Oregon's metal will be converted into material for warships with which to fight the Axis. The famous old vessel was once the flagship of Admiral Roblee ("Fighting Bob") Evans.

BERN: How Adolf Hitler narrowly escaped capture by the Russians advancing in the Stalingrad sector was reported here. Hitler, the report says, was visiting an advanced position of his troops in the Stalingrad sector in the early days of the Russian offensive, when the Reds suddenly launched an attack against the position. Hitler left hurriedly.

France Trails U. S. in Science

Once One of World Leaders, Now Lags Five Years Because of War.

VICHY.—France, once one of the world's leaders in science, is five years behind the United States in scientific progress because of the war.

Optical grinders have turned from the manufacture of microscopes to range-finders; glaziers have little time to make test tubes and high-grade steel is required for less humane instruments than surgical tools.

"As a result of the war," Dr. Pierre Lecomte du Nouy, a director at the Paris Sorbonne, said, "European—and specifically French—science is five years behind what is being done in the United States."

Lack Glassware.

"Laboratory work has become unbelievably difficult," he said. "In a general way, glassware, without which we can do nothing, is almost unobtainable. We were recently unable to obtain delivery of some antityphus serum from our laboratory in Algiers because we could not get the special bottles needed for its transport."

"Specialized instruments are scarce because of metal shortages. Optical precision instruments no longer can be manufactured in France and orders to German manufacturers—once the world's best—are delayed two years with no guarantee of delivery.

Small electric motors and refrigerators, necessary to laboratories, cannot be found. Machine tools can be obtained in the occupied zone only by a "metal voucher" which must be countersigned by the German authorities.

Chemicals are rare and all precious metal salts are delivered only in return for their equivalent weight in metal forms. Essential oils—olive, peanut, coconut and linseed—are looking and mineral oils such as paraffin are almost priceless.

Lack Fuel and Supplies.

Physicians are hampered by a shortage of vaseline for dressing wounds. A crude oil synthetic substitute has been developed but several deaths have been reported from its use.

French drug firms may no longer manufacture tincture of iodine because German medical authorities oppose its use. Instead they use mercurochrome. The ingredients of aspirin are exhausted in France—only that marketed by the German I. G. Farbenindustrie can be obtained. Even the favored French eau de cologne is missing from shop windows.

And the peasants no longer sell their rabbits and guinea pigs to the researchers. If they have them, they eat them.

"We have been lucky enough to find a kind of scientific black market where we can get laboratory animals," one research worker said. "But at what a price—150 francs for a rabbit and 30 francs for a guinea pig. That is terrific when you consider that we need 100 or more animals for any kind of an experiment."

Baby's Cry Recorded for

Father Now in Service

DES MOINES, IOWA.—The cry of a baby's voice will be music to the ears of her daddy across the sea and he will hear it in musical fashion—from a phonograph record.

Corp. John Chamberlain was sent to Ireland before Ruth Ann, now two months old, was born. He wanted to hear the baby's voice so the mother made a recording in which the baby cried and Mrs. Chamberlain told her husband about his child.

Here's what Corporal Chamberlain will hear:

"Now you can hear your baby's voice—wa-a-u-ah—She's a fine big girl—y-u-u-u-ah—we love you very much—y-a-a—She weighs 13½ pounds—mmmmmm—we are—wah—all fine—minim—and hope—wah—you will be home soon."

Iron Wire Is Now Used

By Electric Utilities

NEW YORK.—The use of "iron wire" by electric utilities, in place of the copper that has become vital to war, was reported by the service organization of Electric Bond and Share company.

One form was described as actual triple strands of steel, twisted together.

It carries electric energy only one-tenth as readily as copper, the report said, "but copper wire for ammunition these days and iron wire serves suitably at thousands of points as lead-ins to consumers from standard copper circuits."

Cigar boxes are going to war, according to a report issued by the Cigar Institute of America. Of course, there is nothing unusual in the fact that thousands of boxes of cigars are being sent as Christmas presents to men of the armed forces in this country and all over the globe. But it is a bit out of the ordinary for army trucks to go around gathering up empty cigar boxes. That is what is being done down in Miami. The trucks take the empties to the Miami Beach rifle range where they are put into service of Uncle Sam by the army air force technical command, which uses them to hold cartridges so that the ammunition will not lie in the sand or be exposed to the sun. Also in Florida, Girl Scouts are busily engaged in gathering up all the empty cigar boxes they can find. They have discovered a use for them—in fact, the Girl Scouts have found a double use for empty cigar boxes.

The deft fingers of the Girl Scouts transform the empty containers into "Pandora Boxes." That is, they decorate them in a manner that will appeal to youngsters and then take them to hospitals as gifts for sick children. The Girl Scouts also send cigar boxes to war. Decorated in a more adult fashion and properly filled, they are sent to dads and brothers who are in the armed forces. In Pasadena, Calif., members of the Junior Red Cross are also sending cigar boxes to war. They make game kits for soldiers and sailors, putting backgammon and checker boards on the outside and filling the inside with gadgets for these and other games. The Pasadena Junior Red Cross workers hope that they have started something that will spread over the nation. So don't throw away any old cigar boxes. Save them because they may go to war.

Speaking of men in the service, the other day I made one of those errors which seems to indicate that there are times when the contents of the old bean addle or something. My mistake was the statement that Gene Tunney, former heavyweight champion of the world, had learned to fight while serving in the navy. So Stanley Yeager, of Detroit, writes: "I think you muffed this one, L. L. I served with Tunney at Paris Island in the MARINES. I'll tell Ned on you. Hope Stan doesn't do that because Brother Ned is a World War veteran and might have something to say about giving credit to wrong outfits."

Food production being of great importance nowadays, there may be interest in the fact that Walter Slezak, stage actor who makes his film debut in the RKO picture, "Once Upon a Honeymoon," has turned farmer. He has purchased 80 acres of land in Bucks County, Pa., and intends to concentrate largely on livestock. With a long-term RKO contract and an assignment to support Charles Laughton in "This Land of Mine," Slezak won't have much time to devote to tilling the soil or looking after calves. He has solved that problem, he informed me, during a recent New York visit, by employing an efficient superintendent.

"My farm is beyond the genius belt," averred Slezak, his reference obviously being to the playwrights, George S. Kaufman, Sam and Bella Spewack and other well-knowns who own parts of Bucks County. "Also, it is not a whiskey and soda farm but an actual income producer. Guests are welcome to come and go and eat all they want. But anything they take away with them, from eggs to chickens, must be paid for in hard cash. Eggs in omelet form, are food; in the shell, they are commodities. "And having put himself on record, the actor switched from agriculture to praise of the talents of Ginger Rogers, who is co-starred with Cary Grant in "Once Upon a Honeymoon."

Getting back to men in uniform: At the Hotel Paris, where drafted men are replaced by wives of servicemen, the elevator operator is holding down her first job, her husband having been an arranger for Teddy Powell's orchestra. Among the other girls employed there is one who was evacuated from Bataan while her husband was lying wounded in a hospital. Another leaves her baby with a community group, works eight hours daily and devotes her spare time to caring for her child. Manager John Harrison reports that of the 12 girls now working, not one has uttered a word of complaint. Furthermore, all have voluntarily signed pledges to buy war bonds in excess of the usual 10 per cent of weekly salaries.

No Fault to Find

With Constitution

ST. LOUIS.—An elderly Negro was testifying in an inquest into the death of another Negro when Coroner James J. Fitzgibbons offered a little advice:

"You don't have to talk. You have your constitutional rights." "Oh, I'll testify, Judge," the witness replied. "My constitution is all right."

Grapefruit Victory Special Now

GRAPEFRUIT and tangerines are the government's Victory Special December 31-2—the new Florida crop is in full swing for juicing and sectioning—so get going and get your share of Vitamin C for drinking and eating. Try freshly-squeezed grapefruit juice as an eye-opener in the morning; heat it for an eye-closer at night for precious Vitamin C must be replenished every day. Your market will be featuring the juiciest of Florida's crop, so before you buy, take the shopping tips below—after you buy, drink your grapefruit juice straight from the squeezer or in the ways that follow:

VICTORY SPECIAL DRINKS

Fresh grapefruit juice just "straight" is most popular. Some like a dash of salt added, or a bit of sugar. But you can also make many delectable drinks with grapefruit juice as a base—such as these:

Jeep Juice

(G and P Cocktail)
Combine 1½ cups fresh Florida grapefruit juice and ½ cup bottled prune juice. Serve cold for breakfast.

fast. This amount makes 4 servings and may be doubled or trebled as desired.

Grapefruit Foam

Beat an egg white until stiff; add 2 teaspoons sugar and beat thoroughly. Add juice of 4 Florida grapefruit; pour into glasses. Top with a dash of cinnamon or nutmeg. Serve cold. Serves 4 to 6.

Florida Eggog

Beat 1 egg yolk, add 1 cup Florida grapefruit juice, slowly, beating well. Add a few grains salt and, if desired, 2 teaspoons honey to sweeten. Then beat egg white and add grapefruit mixture to it; mix well, serve cold. Serves 1.

Rosy Grapefruit Juice

Add bottled cranberry juice (or other berry juice) to fresh Florida grapefruit juice; mix; serve cold. Proportions of about one-third cranberry juice to two-thirds grapefruit juice are most popular.

FloridaFizz

Squeeze Florida grapefruit; chill. To serve, pour tall glasses half full of grapefruit juice; then fill up with gingerale. Garnish with cherry and mint, if desired.

Farmers' Pastures

Stockmen and farmers in this country require approximately 275,000,000 acres of pasture annually for their domestic and meat animals.

Stockpiles like this are needed all over the country so that our Government can plan our armament program—and our mills and plants can deliver the fighting tools!

Get in on the drive that starts today. Get the unused metal out of your cellar, your attic, your garage, your place of business. Without this scrap the Nation's steel mills must shut down, for all new steel is 50% scrap, and the mills have not enough for even 30 days more.

And one more thing. Help to stop the atory—spread by innocents and ill-wishers alike—that there is lots of scrap already on hand. They point to junk yards, auto graveyards, and salvage depots that have not been cleaned out, as proof that there is no shortage. Kill this talk before it kills our boys!

In spite of the terrible lack of scrap, here is why you may still find full junk yards and scrap depots—and why they must be kept that way!

1. All scrap must be sorted, stripped, and broken up by scrap dealers before it can be used. Their yards are full because they are busy—preparing your scrap for the mills as fast as they possibly can!
2. Auto graveyards strip autos, keep the usable parts and junk the rest—turning out 450,000 tons of scrap in a typical month. Each must scrap within 60 days as many cars as he buys—that is the law!
3. Scrap collections sometimes have to stay around because the dealers can't handle them all immediately. Even if they could, the mills could not store it all. The local salvage depot is a stockpile—where your scrap is available for instant use as soon as it's needed. And it will be needed!

Remember if these places become empty, the mills shut down—and we lose the war!

So get out your scrap and help your neighbors with theirs. It's the greatest single contribution you can make right now to win the war!

Helmets Protect Soldiers

Weighing less than 12 ounces, plastic helmets now being made for Uncle Sam's soldiers are tough enough to withstand a force of 15 foot-pounds. That's the same as a pound weight being dropped 15 feet. Worn during combat as a liner inside a two-pound steel helmet, the cloth and res'n plastic headpiece provides insulation against heat. During non-combat service, only the lightweight liner is worn as a head covering.

Fires

Prevention of fires can stop loss of equipment, feed, and animals much more effectively than the fighting of fires after they have started.

Smocks Return to The Fashion Scene

Offer Suggestive Ideas for Christmas.

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

The next time you sally forth on a shopping tour, direct your steps to the department in your favorite store where the new gay and festive smocks and brunch coats ("brunchies" for short) are displayed in all their new glory. It's fun to choose housecoats and smocks and "brunchies" for this is one time when you can feel free to indulge in all the colors and prettiness and personal preferences that must be restrained at times in selecting street wear and office clothes.

The new brunch coats do anything you want them to do for they "zip," they wrap around with tie fastenings, they button and they take on all the winning ways that flatter the wearer.

Now that your yuletide gift list must be outlined in order to avoid panic at the warning words "so many days for shopping," to think in terms of "brunchies" or smocks for gifts to sisters, cousins and aunts should prove very timely.

Seersucker is proving a best seller for brunch coats. This season the new crinkle weaves are being brought out in enchanting patterns, the new border types being especially attractive. Designers are styling them so intriguingly one cannot resist their allure. Clever, too, are the natural unbleached muslin types that are uniquely trimmed with rick-rack in colors that pick up the leading tones and tints in the prints.

You will be wishing some one has you on her Christmas list for a quilted sateen housecoat or one of quilted calico. Why not drop a hint as to whether you prefer the short versions or the floor length types. For it's fifty-fifty as to which is the most popular.

'Tulip' Skirt

Study this silhouette well, for this dress is made with the new "tulip" skirt. The smart tulip skirt of this purple crepe New York creation is so named because its folds and drapes arrange themselves in petal-like cascades, clinching down low near the hemline. At the back the skirt is beautifully straight and slim. Two rouches of glittering purple paillettes distinguish the form-fitting bodice with its important shoulder tucks.

New Methods Making Metal-less Jewelry

There has been much experimentation going on with metal-less jewelry to find a substitute media not under priority restrictions. Now being shown in the new collections are gold plate baked onto plastic jewelry that is guaranteed not to rub off. Color is added in bright enamel. Bowknots, flowers and animal figures are featured in this new gold effect series.

Long gypsy necklaces of beads, seeds, macaroni, or nuts are still in the fashion picture, especially with sports costumes and slacks outfits.

Leather flowers are shown to wear with your tweeds. Important in the mode are braided leather bracelets and necklaces. Crochet flowers and felt cutouts are made into leis. Painted acorns are strung on long silk cords.

Style Notes

Hats are gay with feathers. Suits call for a complete blouse wardrobe.

Enormous fur muffs are worn with matching stoles for winter. Dress shoes give new importance to ankle straps.

The short, formal "glitter gown" is a new fashion theme. There is a demand for vivid or light-colored wool gowns to wear under winter coats.

There's witchery in cunning, bright yarn knitted shawls and matching drawstring bags.

For "date frock" glamour, choose gaily embroidered white jersey.

The newer diekeys and vests take on frills and furbelows.

Suede Is Practical As Well as Pretty

Matches Tweed as Fabric Favorite.

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Dresses, suits, coats, millinery and accessories made of handsome black or colorful suede are definitely in the current fall and winter mode. Merchants think so highly of the now-so-important suede trend, many of the better stores are opening up special sections in order to cater to the increasing demand for suede apparel.

The processing of suede has been brought to such a point of perfection in the last several years, it has been rendered as supple and usable as any fabric. The fact that suede tailors to a nicely and can be manipulated with the greatest ease has inspired designers to bend their energies to making suede come into its own with honors. And in the matter of superb coloring nothing surpasses suede.

As to serviceable wear, suede makes the grade triumphantly. Suede is no longer in the experimental stage; it has passed all the tests and has graduated with honors. The call for suede is unprecedented, and enthusiasm for it is running high.

Especially to be coveted is a smartly styled suede suit. There is quite a rivalry existing between sueded and tweeds nowadays. The new suede suits and coats are especially appreciated for their styling details, such as hand-stitched pockets, smart revers and expert seaming. Most of the skirts have kick pleats.

The youthful crowd is all enthusiasm over suede frocks in such colors as gallant greens, fuchsias, reds and purples, with accent on the new Indian clay tones. These feature dirndl-type skirts with all sorts of gadgetry on the bodice tops in the way of bright embroidery, self lacing, also fringe and mammoth leather-covered buttons.

The new suede coats are works of art and they take on style accent when with suede hats in matching or contrasting colors.

Suede accessories are most ingeniously designed and worn with tweeds or suede they add tone to the entire costume. Suede hats, suede bags, suede gloves, scarfs and, most important, suede footwear is making front page news this season.

Fur Witchery

Furs this season, whether they be separate neck pieces and muffs or entire coats, are simply bewitching. The short jacket models are outstanding, and they are fashioned of gorgeous and versatile furs. The luxurious jacket pictured is of skunk fur, a pet long appreciated for its wearing qualities and moderate price. For this particular coat the fur has been dyed in the shade of stone marten.

Fads and Fancies

The "keep warm" appeal is going over big with wise shoppers these days. One of the items that qualifies from this viewpoint is a new stocking cap ("bundling cap" it is called) that has a scarf and long enough to wind about the throat.

There is a trend toward neutral, undyed-looking fabrics this season. This is especially obvious in dresses made of wool jersey, which is considered especially smart in neutral tones.

Something new in the glove realm is the news that the latest dress-up types are sequin embroidered. You can get long or short gloves thus embellished. Black sueded are either jet trimmed in striking design, or they may sound a vivid color note in their sequin patterning.

Time to begin to think about your Christmas gift list. For the "just a thought" gift you might like to know about the cunning, wee sachets made of shells with flower ornamentation to be found at both handkerchief and jewelry counters.

Have you seen the new bracelet bangle that is a thin heart shaped glass locket? Encased within is a real four-leaf clover that has been pressed so as to retain its refreshing green coloring.

MOTORISTS ADVISED TO CHECK BRAKES, BATTERIES, TIRES

Wartime motorists are advised by the Chicago motor club to test the brakes of their cars occasionally when driving in wet weather. Although most brakes are constructed to exclude water, constant driving for long stretches in rainy weather on wet roads may cause a certain amount of moisture to get onto the lining. Wet lining may cause improper or poor brake action in an emergency.

The water level in battery cells should be checked every two weeks during winter months. Danger signs of battery failure can be read in dimming of lights when using the starter, brightening when motor is speeded up. An immediate check should be made if symptoms are present.

Tires serving home front vehicles should be washed off regularly during the winter months, as accumulated mud or dirt may tire damage. The car, likewise, should not stand in grease or oil, as this practice is destructive to rubber.

Shifting from low to second and from second to high gear at the lowest speed possible is a valuable tip on the conservation of gasoline, says the Chicago Motor club. Low gear uses up gasoline 130 per cent faster than high at 20 miles an hour, and second gear uses up 50 per cent faster than high at 30 m. p.h. The miles-per-gallon average suffers when a motorist speeds up in either second or low gear, or stays in these gears too long.

Motorists who are experiencing trouble starting their cars these cool, wintry mornings also are wasting precious gasoline.

period of a week wastes enough rationed gasoline to cause no little concern, the motor club points out, listing causes for slow starting as follows:

Clogged fuel pump, screen, pitted or burned distributor points, low cylinder compression, leaky or dirty gasoline sediment bowl, weak battery, poor battery cable connections, dirty or worn out spark plugs or improper spark spacing, grounded ignition due to loose wiring or dampened wire insulation.

With the winter season in full swing, motorists seeking quicker starting as a gas saving measure are urged to have defective ignition wiring replaced.

Corn Borer Infests Large Part of Illinois

With the exception of seven counties in the southern tip of the state, well below the main corn belt, every county in Illinois is now infested with the corn borer, according to reports being received by the Illinois Department of Agriculture.

The corn borer was first discovered in Illinois in 1939, in Lake, Cook, DuPage, Will and Kane counties. It spread to twelve other counties the following year, and last year twenty-six counties were reported infested. While some commercial damage was reported this season, infestation was light in most corn-producing areas.

Clean plowing, the use of hybrid seed corn and delayed planting are recommended measures of control. Few borers survive when all corn stalks are plowed under before the first of May.

For Highest Dairy Income

Dairymen who make the highest income from their herds plan their business so that the volume of milk production is maintained in fall and winter months when prices are best.

Victory

V is for Victory. In our alphabet, the only way to get to V is through U. Are U doing your part?

at the same time cleaning spark plug porcelain and outside sections of distributor with a clean, dry cloth.

Rationed motorists are advised further to be sure they are using proper grade of oil through the winter months to eliminate motor drag, and at the same time are urged to start the car in the generally recognized approved manner by having the car in neutral gear, disengage the clutch, pull out the choke if necessary, then step on or push the starter button.

Christian Science Relief Committee Issues Report

The Christian Science War Relief Committee of The First Church of Christ, Scientists, in Boston, Mass., which was established in September 1940, has recently released its second annual report. This shows that it now has more than 1500 branch units active in the United States of America besides many more in Great Britain, Canada, Australia, and the Union of South Africa.

The Committee has assembled since Pearl Harbor over 66,000 pounds of durable clothing and bedding, in waterproof, mothproof, wooden cases, at convenient locations on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, ready for instant use should emergencies arise because of local enemy action.

A large number of garments have been distributed to men in the United States forces. Clothing has been given to refugees from Holland, Norway, Russia, Poland, Belgium, and other European countries, and the United Kingdom.

The total value of material in clothing distributed is estimated at $1,535,000. In addition to this money gifts have been sent to China and other needy countries. The Committee is ready to aid in relieving human suffering caused by war wherever it can; and it co-operates with many other officially recognized relief agencies when sudden needs arise, readily contributing whatever of its supplies are available.
